"AN ARTIST'S STATEMENT"

I am a figurative and figural painter who believes in the primacy of drawing. Perhaps this is a consequence of my attending an art school often praised for teaching good draftsmanship for many years. I also do a fair amount of printmaking often coloring them with the brush. Believing in painting's narrative potential I attempt to suggest didactic conclusions to, hopefully, amusing selective images. Disliking the term 'realism' my work is more 'romantic' with a quirky rubato flow in a spacial manipulation which owes much to the baroque and mannerism. Essentially an entity, of the 'real', existing in a composed reading for the entertainment and cultural enrichment of the viewer. Abstraction and 'new image' painting is far too cryptic and far-out metaphysical for my 'Will Rogers' common sense or my desire for a Mozartian flexible subtlty in a rigid disciplined format and process.

I began painting 'alla prima' in a palette of fifty colors. This resulted in paintings which were unnaturally cold and intense in color similar to the effect much photography has. I decided on more strict process orientation along the lines of the great renaissance masters. The work is now executed on a fine belgian linen traditionally prepared with rabbit skin glue and three layers of lead ground or 'imprimatura'. I develope a cartoon, which is transfered, and paint two layers of a 'grisaille' underpainting which is then covered by two or more layers of my full palette which is now seldom more than twelve organic colors. I do not understand how this process oriented method can be so neglected in a century that is almost neurotically process minded. I guess that patience and care are no longer considered to be aesthetic virtues.

I seriously considered pursuing a career as a classical musician yet got serious at too late a date to be considered prodigious at it by the time I was ready to go to college. This is partially the reason for my interest in using instrumental or vocal repertoire as a starting point for some of my images. I am particularly drawn to the work of Gustav Mahler who typically uses vast traditional means to achieve a lengthy contemporary narrative with decidedly didactic metaphysical ends.
